

Coffee Mugs and Sippy Cups

A blog written by a mommy, for mommies. Discussing issues on parenting, children gear and style, and the overall craziness of being a mommy.

Monday, March 1, 2010

d mo baby: Style for the Little Man

The title of this post says it all. When you first become pregnant and don't know the sex of your baby, you imagine cute little outfits...mainly girl ones. It is so hard to find unique clothes for the little boys. This is exactly what Dana from d mo baby thought when she had her son. Dana used her passion for fashion, her love for her little boy, and a push from some great friends and started up her own design business. Thank God for that. These shirts are so adorable and stylish.

I am so gracious to have received a shirt from Dana to review. I waited anxiously for it to arrive and was pleasantly surprised at the quality of the packaging. This little shirt came wrapped just like a grown man's button down shirt accompanied by a flyer and contact information. I was so excited to open it, and when I did, I was definitely impressed. The quality of this shirt is fantastic. The shirt is not too stiff as many button downs are, but also not too soft that it will create endless wrinkles...which is my biggest pet peeve in dress shirts. The colors on this shirt were outrageous. The shirt I received was the Hopkins design, which is a bright blue floral design that you can check out on d mo's website.

I gave the shirt a wash and dry to see how it would stand up, and I couldn't believe it when I took it out and it didn't have a wrinkle to it! Better than some of my husband's Land's End shirts. It didn't appear to have shrunk, and overall, I was very impressed. My favorite part of the shirt is that when you turn up the sleeves, there is a different design to add to the effect. I think any little boy would be lucky to have a shirt of such quality and style. I can't wait for my little man to rock this shirt to his next playdate!

Posted by Alicia at 7:55 AM 4 comments

Labels: review, style, toddlers

4 comments:

LLL with Leslie said...

Hil I found you through marketing monday's blog hop. I am now following you :)

Have a great day!

<http://www.livelovelaughwithleslie.com/>

March 1, 2010 2:26 PM

M.A. Malone said...

I am now following you...I found you through the blog hop.

Have a great day!

<http://authormamalone.blogspot.com>

March 1, 2010 2:44 PM

Momma Such said...

How cute!
I think this company has great little boy shirts! :)

March 1, 2010 2:55 PM

Denise said...

I am following you from Trendy Treehouse's Market Monday!

Stop by <http://extremepersonalmeasures.blogspot.com/>

March 1, 2010 5:00 PM

Updated Adorable Baby Felt Booty Review and Gi...

Food Nation: Changing the way we raise our childr...

Everyone knows what a pain it is trying to keep sh...

Week in Review and What's to Come

Long Time No See...Some News to Share

A Beginning of a New Era
For my pregnant mamas:
Some great Sales

Wish List Wednesday: My Colonial Home

It's Christmas All Over Again: The Importance of R...

Sales on Tutus, Imagi Play, and Urban Smalls

Eight Baby Legs Giveaway Winner is...

J Crew is my New Obsession

Sleepless Nights

Wish List Wednesday

Utah Abortion Ban: Making it a Crime to Missam?

WELCOME TO THE SMALLVOLUTION™

Get started online with domains for only $9.99.

WHERE YOUR VISION GROWS ONLINE

Start Now

Badge Love...

